THE GATHERER.

"Read and you will know."

"THE three great B's of German music," Haus von Biilow used to say, "are Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms."

MUSHROOMS generally consist of 90 per cent. water, but the remaining 10 per cent. is more nutritious than bread.

LORD ROSEBERY defines memory as "the feeling that steals over us when we listen to our friend's original stories."

THE first motor-van used in the postal service of this country started from London for Redhill on the evening of the 16th of December, 1897.

THERE are three varieties of the dog that never bark—the Australian dog, the Egyptian shepherd dog, and the "lion headed" dog of Thibet.

THE signet with which Mrs. Siddons sealed the tickets for her farewell performance was sold at an auction in London in 1898 for £6 10s.

BRIDE-CAKE is thought much of in China, four cakes sent for the purpose by the bridegroom's family being tossed in the air and caught in a quilt held before the bride's sedan chair.

FRENCH people do not celebrate their birthdays as we do. They hold what is called their name-days. A woman named Mary, for instance, would hold the day devoted to the Virgin Mary.

AMONG the many remedies for indigestion is the agreeable one of the rocking-chair. An excellent medical authority declares that the slow, rocking motion after meals stimulates the digestive functions and gives marked relief.

To the future of the agricultural labourer Joseph Arch looks forward with confidence. If the labourer will only be true to himself. "Get on the land," he says, "but by your own help. I do not believe in State aid and land nationalisation."

FOR "Hard Times" Dickens made out a list of nineteen titles. Here are some of the rejected:—"Heads and Tales," "Two and Two are Four," "Our Hard-Hearted Friend," "Rust and Dust," "A Mere Question of Figures," "Mr. Gradgrind's Facts," "Black and White."

ONE of the most remarkable mountain railroads in the world is the Pilatus Railway, which was constructed in 1889. The total length of this line is 5,045 yards, and the average gradient is 38 in 100. The ascent is made from Alpnach, and Pilatus Kulm, the summit, is 6,993 feet above sea level. The railway rests in a substratum of granite slabs and rocks, with framework of iron and steel, and wends its way through precipitous gorges.

SPRING of natural ink, jet black in tints, flows from the base of Henneshaw Mountain, near Marietta, Ga.

THE length of the world's railways is more than seventeen times the circumference of the earth at the equator.

THE vogue of Mendelssohn's "Songs without Words," which endured for so many years in England and Germany, has now completely passed away.

THE Egyptians bestowed great labour on their tombs and little on their homes. They regarded the latter as mere temporary abodes, but the former they looked on as eternal habitations.

THE Queen has never entirely given up wearing earrings, and occasionally dons a pair of some considerable length and magnificent lustre.

THE following somewhat original sign appears in Dumfriesshire:—"Here's where you can get a meal like your mother used to give you."

THE number of suicides throughout the world is said to be about 180,000 annually. The greatest number happen in June, and the fewest in September.

"Six is the age at which would-be pianists should begin serious work," says the great teacher Leschetizky, the Viennese master of music from whom Paderewski learned to perfect his art.

"THE first requisite of life," says Mr. Herbert Spencer, "is to be a good animal, and to be a nation of good animals is the first condition of national prosperity."

COBDEN once said that a single number of The Times was worth all the writings of Thucydides. This was true at least in point of bulk, for one copy of The Times must often contain as much matter as would equal the whole History of the Peloponnesian War.

THE eighteenth century was the golden age of gambling in England, as is pretty evident from all sorts of records. Many ladies kept faro banks in their own houses, which were open to the public. Hot suppers were provided at three o'clock in the morning, and the play often went on till five.

PHILOSOPHERS have imagined that there must be in Nature some element or production which, if found, would cure all bodily ills and enable man to attain a more than patriarchal age. The old alchemists, in addition to their search after the philosopher's stone, set themselves to work to discover such a production, which they termed elixir vitæ, or the elixir of life.

The Hand that Rules the World.

WE have been often asked who was the author of the well-known saying, "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world."

The words form part of a poem composed by William Ross Wallace, of which the opening stanza runs thus:—

*They say that man is mighty,
He governs land and sea,
He wields a mighty sceptre
O'er lesser powers that be;
But a mightier power and stronger
Man from his throne hath hurled,
And the hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world.*

"WISDOM IS BETTER THAN GOLD OR SILVER."

"Be wise to-day; 'tis madness to defer."—YOUNG.

THE apostles of error are never so dangerous as when they appear in the guise of grey-headed old men.

STAND upon the edge of this world ready to take wing, having your feet on earth, your eyes and heart in heaven.

BAD temper is its own scourge. Few things are more bitter than to feel bitter. A man's venom poisons himself more than his victim.

HE alone is wise who can accommodate himself to all the contingencies of life; but the fool contends, and is struggling like a swimmer against the tide.

WHOSOEVER is afraid of submitting any question, civil or religious, to the test of free discussion is more in love with his own opinion than with truth.

DEFERENCE often shrinks and withers as much upon the approach of intimacy as the sensitive plant does upon the touch of one's finger.

SOLITUDE is one of the highest enjoyments of which our nature is susceptible. Solitude is also, when too long continued, capable of being made the most severe, indescribable, unendurable source of anguish.

LABOUR is not only requisite to preserve the coarser organs in a state fit for their functions, but it is equally necessary to those finer and more delicate organs on which, and by which, the imagination and perhaps the other mental powers act.

As the flower is gnawed by frost, so every human heart is gnawed by faithlessness. And as surely, as irrevocably, as the fruit bud falls before the east wind, so fails the power of the kindest human heart if you meet it with poison.

IF envy, like anger, did not burn itself in its own fire, and consume and destroy those persons it possesses, before it can destroy those it wishes worst to, it would set the whole world on fire, and leave the most excellent persons the most miserable.

A SWEET temper has a soothing influence on the minds of a whole family. Where it is found in the wife and mother kindness and love predominate. Smiles, kind words and looks, characterize the children, and peace and love have a real dwelling-place.

TRUTH is a subject which men will not suffer to grow old. Each age has to fight with its own falsehoods; each man with his love of saying to himself and those around him pleasant things and things serviceable for to-day, rather than things which are. Yet a child appreciates at once the divine necessity for truth; never asks, "What harm is there in saying the thing that is not?" And an old man finds in his growing experience wider and wider applications of the great doctrine and discipline of truth.

THE best way for a man to get out of a lowly position is to be conspicuously effective in it.

THE great mass of mankind can only gaze and wonder; if they undertake to think, they grow listless, and soon tire out.

THE extreme pleasure we take in talking of ourselves should make us fear that we give very little to those who listen to us.

To vex another is to teach him to vex us again; injuries awaken a revengeful spirit, and even a fly can trouble our patience.

To be always thinking about your manners is not the way to make them good; the very perfection of manners is not to think about yourself.

WHAT maintains one vice would bring up two children. Remember, many a little makes a mickle; and further, beware of little expenses, a small leak will sink a great ship.

MENTAL pleasures never cloy; unlike those of the body, they are increased by repetition, approved of by reflection, and strengthened by enjoyment.

FERON said that to live in peace with all the world it is not only necessary to refrain from intermeddling with the affairs of others, but also to allow others to intermeddle with yours.

HE is commonly the wisest, and is always the happiest, who receives simply and without envious question whatever good is offered him with thanks to the immediate giver.

WASTE no time in cherishing vain dreams, indulging idle speculations, or in giving way to depressing emotions; but resolutely throw them off, and engage in whatever actual work appears most pressing and important.

WHEN Mandeville maintained that private vices were public benefits he did not calculate the widely destructive influence of bad example. To affirm that a vicious man is only his own enemy is about as wise as to affirm that a virtuous man is only his own friend.

ALL things may be remedied but discontent; and content helps to remedy most circumstances. We should never complain of a state of things which we cannot mend, nor of that which it only requires an effort on our part to amend. If we content ourselves with the latter, it is our fault; the former is beyond our control, but still may be gilded by our cheerfulness.

EVERYBODY is impatient for the time when he shall be his own master; and if coming of age were to make one so, if years could indeed "bring the philosophic mind," it would rightly be a day of rejoicing to a whole household and neighbourhood. But too often he who is impatient to become his own master, when the outward checks are removed merely becomes his own slave.

Certain Success.

*A wide world and a broad life,
Long years of honest striving,
Always seeking, always grounding,
Ne'er completing, ever rounding,
The oldest kept with faithfulness,
The new grasped with friendliness,
A glad heart and a firm purpose—
Thus one surely will progress.*

Kenilworth Castle.

THE famous remains of Kenilworth Castle stand on a gentle eminence. According to the commonly received account, the first builder of Kenilworth was Geoffrey de Clinton, upon whom the manor had been conferred by Henry I. In course of time it came into the hands of Simon de Montfort, Earl of Leicester, and when the Earl took up arms against his sovereign it became a great place of resort for the insurgent nobles.

One of the remarkable events of which Kenilworth was the scene was a splendid tournament held in the reign of Edward I. The chief promoter of this chivalrous festival was Roger Mortimer, Earl of March. The knights who took part were a hundred in number, and among them were many distinguished foreigners who had come to England expressly for the occasion. The ladies matched the knights by also numbering a hundred.

Kenilworth, having become a possession of the Crown, was granted by Queen Elizabeth in 1562 to Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester, who spent a large sum in restoring it, and whose splendid entertainments there to Elizabeth are described, as every reader knows, in Sir Walter Scott's novel of "Kenilworth."

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

DURING January it is desirable to derive as much benefit as possible from the frost, and hence all unoccupied plots of ground should be deeply dug and laid up in ridges. At any time this month, whenever opportunity occurs, there may be sowings made of peas, beans, two-bladed onions, York cabbages, horn carrots, and parsnips. Dry sheltered borders are invaluable for these early sowings. In the event of severe weather one should protect them by shaking down dry litter, and placing reed hurdles in suitable positions to screen off the wind. January is a bad time for planting evergreens, but deciduous trees may be planted during open weather. This is a bad time also for pruning in the fruit garden. Dress fruit-trees and old trees with a mixture of lime, soot, and clay. Never prune during frost. The protection of choice plants will now require particular care; danger from frost becomes more serious as the sun gains power. Water plants in pots sparingly, and never at the decline of day.

KENILWORTH CASTLE.

Woman's Most Attractive Age.

THE question was asked in one of the magazines last year, "What is a woman's most attractive age?"

To this Mrs. Heron Maxwell answers:—

"'A woman is not worth talking to till she is over thirty,' was the opinion given by a man to men when a kindred question to this was raised. It is possible that if a census could be taken, and the number of admirers and friends be apportioned correctly to each woman, it would be found that those who possessed the most were between thirty and thirty-six."

His Name had Travelled.

THE late Lord Playfair, who, in size, was far from being an imposing man, used to tell with great relish of an amusing experience he once encountered in Canada.

Strolling with semi-scientific aim among some phosphate diggings, he came across a Scotch quarryman, with whom he fell into interesting talk. The quarryman proved to be quite capable of discussing abstruse subjects intelligently, and while talking he mentioned incidentally that Dr. Lyon Playfair said so-and-so.

Lord Playfair was Dr. Lyon Playfair in those days. He revealed his identity, and expressed astonishment that he should be of repute in this comparatively remote part of the world.

"Man," was the answer, "yer name's travelled further than ever yer wee legs 'll carry ye."

The Golf Player.

GOLFER: "Dear, dear! There cannot be worse players than myself!"

Caddie: "Weel, weel, maybe they're worse players, but they dinna play!"

About Badgers.

THE badger may be an unpleasant lodger in a rabbit warren, but otherwise he is absolutely harmless.

He is the most inoffensive and, at the same time, the most formidable of beasts. His thick, furry hide and the looseness of the skin make him impregnable to the teeth of bulldogs, and the grip of his tusks is tremendous.

His subterranean stronghold is a labyrinth of shafts and galleries, where the skilful strategist turns each jutting stone or gnarled root into a strong defensible position.

The Maidens' Petition.

ON March 1st, 1733, a petition was presented to Governor Johnson, of South Carolina, signed by sixteen maidens of Charleston, entreating his Excellency's interference to prevent widows from re-marrying until the spinsters had got husbands.

The petition urged: "The great disadvantage it is to us maids is, that the widows by their forward carriage do snap up the young men, and have the vanity to think their merits beyond ours, which is a great imposition upon us who ought to have the preference."

The Surrender of Cronje.

It is a remarkable coincidence that the surrender of General Cronje and his Boer army at Paardeberg to the British forces on the 27th of February, 1900, happened on the anniversary of the memorable mishap at Majuba, the political results of which have cost the Empire so dear.

General Cronje with all his force capitulated unconditionally at daybreak on the day just named.

By three o'clock in the morning our men had got within eighty yards of the enemy's trenches. This apparently clinched matters, for at daybreak a letter signed by Cronje, announcing his unconditional surrender, was brought to our outpost under a flag of truce. Lord Roberts, in reply, told Cronje that he must present himself at the British camp and that his force must come out of their laager after laying down their arms.

At seven o'clock Cronje arrived, and in the course of conversation asked for kind treatment, and that his wife, grandson, and attendants might accompany him wherever he was sent. This request, Lord Roberts told him, would be complied with.

The total number of prisoners captured was about four thousand.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

WITHOUT delay all ground intended for summer crops should be got ready in the kitchen garden. Plant potatoes on dry soils as soon as possible. It is worth taking note that when cultivators complain that their potatoes run all to haulm it may always be understood that they are planted about twice as thick as they ought to be. Sow in the open quarters peas, beans, parsnips, spinach, leeks. On warm slopes sow radish, hardy lettuce, cabbage, parsley. In the flower garden edgings, rockeries, walks, lawns, and rosaries may all be made or planted this month. Part and plant herbaceous plants. Plant ranunculuses and anemones. Sow hardy annuals in pans, to get them forward for planting out. In the fruit garden prune out-door vines. Clean wall trees and nail firmly, using narrow shreds. If made early this month strawberry beds bear well, they should be made in rich firm ground; the old beds should be cleaned and have a top-dressing of fresh soil and manure mixed. Plant and prune bush fruits; pruning after vegetation has begun, except summer pruning, is not to be thought of. Begin grafting whenever the weather permits. Prepare netting or other protection for wall trees, and use it when the buds begin to swell during the continuance of north-east winds. Make every preparation for next month, which is perhaps the most important month of the year. In the flower garden the early bulbs begin to appear this month, and all nature is seen awakening from the sleep of winter.

THE SURRENDER OF GENERAL CRONJE.

Fortunately We Are Rich.

PHYSICIAN.—"The truth can no longer be hidden, madam. I am obliged to tell you that your little son is—er—weak-minded. That is—well, it must be said—he is an idiot."

Mrs. Highupp.—"How fortunate it is that we are rich! No one will ever notice it."

The Hand Tells the Character.

A LARGE hand is always better than a small one. It indicates a person of some unusual powers. The possessor will be a good worker, principally as to details; he will be careful not to make many promises, but will keep the few he makes to the letter, even at a loss to himself; he will be easily offended, very quick to imagine slights, and not ready to forgive either real or imagined offences.

The possessor of a small hand will attempt almost anything, rarely, however, finishing what he undertakes; is easily satisfied, both with himself and with the world in general; is fond of gaiety and excitement; makes and loses friends with the same easiness; is impressionable and inflammable to a high degree; is religious, but not deeply so; will make promises and break them without compunction, and will be unable to bind himself to details.

A hand well proportioned to the body belongs to that type of character which grasps the general effect and at the same time recognises the worth of details.

Consider whether the hand is hard or soft—that is, whether the palm resists or yields to the touch. A very hard, "stiff" hand belongs to one who is cruel, unjust, opinionated.

The thumb is by far the most important part of the hand. "The thumb," says the great authority, D'Arpentigny, "individualises the man."

Call Things by Their Right Name.

IN a provincial theatre in Ireland the famous actor, Macready, was once impersonating Virginius. In preparing the scene in which the body of Dentatus is brought on the stage, the manager called to the Irish attendant—his property man—for the bier.

Pat responded to the call at once, and soon appeared with a full foaming pot of ale, but was received with a string of anathemas for his confounded stupidity.

"The bier, you blockhead!" thundered the manager.

"And sure, isn't it here?" exclaimed Pat, presenting the highly-polished quart measure.

"Not that, you stupid fellow! I mean the barrow for Dentatus."

"Then why don't you call things by their right name?" said Pat. "Who would imagine you meant the barrow when you called for the beer?"

The Only Cosmopolitan Classics.

A FRENCH critic has recently declared that of cosmopolitan classics there are only two—"Don Quixote" and "Robinson Crusoe." He tells us that "other masterpieces take higher rank, from the perfection of their art or from the sublimity of their thought, but they do not address themselves to every age and to every condition; they demand for their enjoyment a mind already formed and an intellectual culture not given to everyone. Cervantes and De Foe alone have solved the problem of interesting . . . the little child and the thoughtful old man, the servant-girl and the philosopher." To Spain and to Great Britain the honour belongs of producing those immortal works, the first issued in 1605, and the second a little more than a century later.

Staffa.

THE name of this remarkable island means "the Isle of Columns," which it truly is. One of its objects of interest is Fingal's Cave, shown in our engraving, but it has other caves well worthy of notice—the Clamshell Cave, the Boat Cave, and the Cormorants' or Mac-kinnon's Cave. These columnar caves vary from eighteen to fifty feet in height, and the depth of dark water within them is from thirty-six to fifty-four feet.

Fingal's Cave gets its name from Ossian's "King of Selma." The total length of this cave inwards is two hundred and twenty-seven feet. This stupendous basaltic grotto remained, singularly enough, unknown to the outer world until it was visited in 1772 by Sir Joseph Banks.

Amongst the sights of Staffa shown to visitors is the Corner Stone, the only square stone on the island. From this stone a very fine view is got of the Bending Pillars, seemingly bent out by the weight of the mass above them. Another sight is Fingal's Wishing Chair, about which tradition says that one has only to sit on it and wish three separate wishes and they are all sure to be granted. This Chair stands on what is known as the Causeway, from which one sees a most wonderful collection of pillars and stones of every conceivable shape, position, angle, and size, all seemingly built or fitted into each other.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THE main crop of all vegetables should now be sown; for these a soil should be chosen that was well manured last year. Potatoes are best planted in trenches and covered loosely with soil. Make new plantations of artichokes. Horseradish may be planted in any spare corner, but the ground should be dug deeply and the sub-soil be well manured. Mark out onion beds; fork the borders lightly in the flower beds, so as not to injure the roots of herbaceous plants, and make the surface moderately fine so as to give a neat appearance. Sow hardy annuals in the borders. At the end of the month train and thin ivy, reducing the growth on walls, etc. Cuttings of bush fruits may still be put in. Pruning and clearing ought to have been long ago completed. Burn all the prunings and clippings of trees, hedges, etc., and use the ashes for top-dressing. Plant dahlias in a hot bed to start, and divide and pot them when they have made shoots an inch or two in length. This important month in the garden is proverbial for boisterous weather.

What Greenland is Like.

“THERE are few,” says Lieutenant R. E. Peary, the Greenland explorer, “who have a realised idea of what Greenland is really like. To-day Greenland has no interior; it was simply a great white snow-shield, an African Sahara, compared with which the African was insignificant. On the surface of that frozen surface the traveller sees but three things in all the world outside his own party—an infinite expanse of snow, an infinite expanse of sky, and the stars.” Greenland cannot be said to be mountainous, yet heights of from 3,000 to 4,000 feet are common, and the aspect which the coast presents is that of high cliffs—black where steep, white where the snow can lie.

A Post-Office Tale.

“A TOWN post-office,” writes a post-office official, “had been closed, as the receiver had been suspended. I was one day walking up from the station to speak to the postmaster, when, on passing the closed office, I saw two ladies reading, with evident amusement, a notice on the shutters. Here is that notice: ‘This office is closed temporarily, by order.’”

“I tore the paper down and took it to the district head office.

“The postmaster there said it was ‘a villainous exhibition, calculated to bring the Department into discredit.’ He thought a little, and then sat down and wrote: ‘This office is closed temporarily.’”

“To this also I objected, much to his amazement, and after a long argument he sent his daughter upstairs for a ponderous dictionary. Having consulted this, he sat down and produced the following: ‘This office is closed temporarily.’”

STAFFA, SHOWING FINGAL'S CAVE.

A Lesson She Deserved.

“HE was an angular man, with grey ear-whiskers. He gave up his seat in a crowded tramcar with alacrity. The lady who took the proffered seat was stout and hearty. She slipped into the vacant place without a word. The angular man looked at her thoughtfully; then he stooped over and said:

“I had an uncle, ma'am, that had just the same affliction.”

“Sir!” said the stout lady, with an insulted toss of her head.

“Yes,” continued the angular man; “he couldn't pronounce any word beginning with ‘th’ to save his precious neck. That's right. He'd stutter and stammer, and the best he could do would be to give it the sound of ‘s.’ His oldest son's name was Theophilus, but he always called him ‘Sophilus.’ Had it long, ma'am?”

The stout lady was dark red from vexation. “You are insulting,” she snorted.

“Well, I don't wonder you hate to have anybody refer to it,” said the angular man, with great cheerfulness. “But I couldn't help noticing it when you took my seat, and weren't able to say ‘Thank you.’ I wouldn't have minded in the least if you'd said ‘Sank you.’ Oh, do you get off here? Good-day, ma'am. Never mind the thanks.”

And the stout lady flounced down the street to take the next tram.

The Relief of Mafeking.

THE termination of the siege of Mafeking was the welcome news which reached this country on the 18th of May, 1900.

Englishmen all over the world will ever dwell with pride on this memorable siege. Seldom have the courage, endurance, and resourcefulness of the race been more splendidly exhibited than by this little body of improvised soldiers, cut off for months—their heroic defence lasted for seven months—from their countrymen, in the heart of a hostile country, and attacked by an enemy vastly superior to them in numbers and equipment. The trenches and mud defences of Mafeking will live in history with the most notable of our Indian sieges, and live, we trust, as one more example of how pluck and energy in the long run overcome the most formidable obstacles.

Mafeking was fully invested on the 15th of October, 1899, and on October 16th the first shot was fired of a bombardment which was to last almost without intermission until the place was relieved. The population during the siege was about nine thousand persons, of whom no fewer than two thousand men, women and children were white, and all these seem to have conducted themselves with the utmost courage and endurance.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THE powerful force of more genial influences at this season speedily begins to have its effect on vegetable life. The changeable weather, however, tries severely the capabilities of the gardener. His work is much the same as last month. Successional sowings may be made of all the principal kitchen crops. The main crop of carrots should be got in about the middle of the month, and there is yet time for a crop of parsnips, but they must be sown without delay. Any time this month will do for putting in kitchen herbs; they will take root more quickly if planted in a rather dry sandy border. Seeds of hardy annuals and perennials are to be sown early, and the more tender kinds may be safely committed to the ground towards the end of the month. Perennials may be planted out. Dahlia roots may also be planted. Protect the shoots during night frosts. Walks should be turned and rolled, and grass plots dressed. Wall trees must be protected from the keen east wind. Give plenty of water to fruit trees in pots. Plant out tender deciduous trees and shrubs which have been raised in pots.

The Hero of Mafeking.

MAJOR-GENERAL ROBERT STEPHENSON SMYTH BADEN-POWELL is descended from brave and honest forefathers, and his early days were spent in a quite ideal English home. He was born on the 22nd of February, 1857, and is in despatches; was Assistant Military Secretary at Malta from 1890 to 1893; was on special service in Ashanti two years later; was chief staff officer in the Matabele campaign; and was in 1897 promoted from the 13th Hussars to the command of the 5th Dragoons.

"He is," says an authority, "the 'best chap'

MAJOR-GENERAL ROBERT BADEN-POWELL.

the son of the late Rev. Baden-Powell, of Oxford and Langton Manor, and Henrietta Grace, daughter of Admiral W. H. Smyth.

He was educated at the Charterhouse, and joined the 13th Hussars in 1876. He served in India, Afghanistan, and South Africa; was on the staff as Assistant Military Secretary in South Africa from 1887 to 1889; took part in operations in Zululand in 1888, being mentioned then in the British Army, one of the smartest officers, and one of the most loved. All his friends call him 'B.P.' for convenience.

"He is a man of many and varied accomplishments. When he is not fighting he is writing, or painting, or acting. To his accomplishments must be added that of being the finest pig-sticker of the British Army, one of the best polo players, and a splendid shot."

The Relief of Ladysmith.

FROM the 2nd of November, 1899, to the close of February of the following year a great fear hung over the British nation. Owing to the subordination of military to local political considerations, a British force of 10,000 fine soldiers had become shut up in Ladysmith, and as time went on the chance grew stronger that for the first time for a hundred years a great army belonging to ourselves might be forced by famine, by disease, and by the exhaustion of their ammunition to lay down their arms.

All fears, however, were over on the 28th of February, for on that day the gallant efforts made to relieve Ladysmith were crowned with success. In the evening Lord Dundonald with three hundred men of the Imperial Light Horse and the Natal Carbineers marched in without encountering any opposition.

"It is impossible," says one who was on the spot, "to describe the enthusiasm of the beleaguered garrison. Cheer upon cheer ran from post to post. . . Women with children in their arms tearfully pressed forward to grasp the hands of the gallant band. It was the most moving sight I have ever witnessed. Strong men were in tears.

"The contrast between the robust troopers of a dozen battles and the pale, emaciated defenders of Ladysmith was great."

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

DURING the summer months the effects of sunshine and other prevailing influences by which evaporation is accelerated operate very rapidly under certain conditions; much has, therefore, to be done in the way of watering. The gardener should do his best to give high culture to his vegetable crops, frequently stirring between the rows with the hoe to keep down weeds, and supplying not only water but liquid manure abundantly. It is hardly possible to give too much water. Put sticks to rows of peas as soon as they require support. Thin parsnips and carrots. Choose showery weather if possible for transplanting. Sow beans and peas for succession; savory for late crops. Cabbages, broccoli, beetroot, kale, kidney beans (both dwarf and runners), lettuce, spinach, turnips, cucumbers, and marrows may now be sown in the open ground for a late supply. Sow annuals in the flower-garden for succession.

THE RELIEF OF LADYSMITH: LORD DUNDONALD'S FORCE ENTERING THE CITY.

In Terror of the Census.

WHEN the census was taken in India, in 1831, the fears of the natives gave a great deal of trouble. They could not understand it at all.

In Calcutta on the eventful night the streets were deserted from early in the evening, as it was firmly believed that anyone perambulating the Queen's highway after dark would be decapitated.

Moreover, a rumour had been spread that at 9 p.m. all gas-lights were to be extinguished, and every inhabitant must then keep burning a lamp or candle. Consequently quantities of oil were bought up, and on the census night not a candle was to be purchased.

In one quarter of the city it was rumoured that a male and a female European would enter each house and decapitate the inhabitants, while a more amusing report was that the Government wanted to provide wives for the soldiers returned from Afghanistan, and were going to count the available brides.

The coolies in the Darjeeling district bolted en masse to the jungle, dreading some unknown horror; while the Nepaulese believed that a child would be taken from each house, and its head put under the foundations of a neighbouring bridge, the trunk being placed on the tramway for the engine to run over.

A Wise Life.

*So live that when the sun
Of your existence sinks in night,
Memories sweet of mercies done
May shine your name in memory's light;
And the blessed seeds you scatter, bloom
A hundredfold in days to come.*

SIR JOHN BOWRING.

How to Pronounce Beaconsfield.

WHEN Lord Rosebery was at Beaconsfield in 1898, unveiling a memorial of Edmund Burke, he made an interesting statement regarding the pronunciation of Beaconsfield, about which many people are a little in doubt.

"I was brought up," he said, "to believe the pronunciation was 'Beaconsfield' until, on the creation of the title of Lady Beaconsfield and still more of Lord Beaconsfield, I was impressed by those distinguished persons with a creed, which will only leave me with my life, that the proper pronunciation was Beaconsfield, and not 'Beaconsfield.' I can assure you it would have required more courage than I possess to address Lady Beaconsfield as Lady 'Beaconsfield,' or to name Lord Beaconsfield to himself as Lord 'Beaconsfield.'"

The local pronunciation of the name, however, we believe to be "Beaconsfield."

When Dessert-spoons Came In.

In the earlier part of this century the dessert-spoon was not known in Scotland. The two houses in which it was first introduced were Hamilton and Dalkeith. Before that there was no spoon known between the tablespoon and the teaspoon.

Not long after its introduction a rough country squire, dining for the first time at Hamilton Palace, had been served at dessert with a sweet dish containing cream or jelly, and with it the servant handed him a dessert-spoon.

The laird turned it round and round in his great fist, and said to the servant, "What do you gie me this for, ye great fule? Do ye think ma mooth has got any smaller since A lappit up my soup?"

Taymouth Castle.

THE princely magnificence of Taymouth Castle, the seat of the Marquis of Breadalbane, makes a deep impression upon everyone who happens to visit its neighbourhood. It is built of a fine blue stone, and consists of four storeys, with round towers at the angles, an airy central pavilion, and a quadrangular tower rising in the centre to a considerable height above the main building, carrying up a spacious and ornate staircase.

The interior—particularly the Queen's room, the banner hall, the Chinese room, the drawing-room and the dining-room—is gorgeously fitted up, and contains paintings by many great artists, including Titian, Rubens, Salvator Rosa, Carracci, Teniers, and Vandyke.

The vale in which the castle is situated is not spacious enough to admit of that apparently boundless contiguity of park which constitutes such a charm around the baronial residences of England, but the hills are abrupt, luxuriantly wooded, and broken into every sort of picturesque and varied outline. The bold rock of Drummond Hill, with its steep and richly wooded sides, presents a grand background to the Castle, and a glance around reveals the proximity of Schiehallion, Ben Lawers, Ben More, and many other mountain giants.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THIS month the ground in the kitchen garden will be for the most part covered; everything will be in full growth. The gardener must be active with his hoe, for weeds grow faster than the crops and exhaust the soil rapidly. Cucumbers, gourds, tomatoes, and capsicums may be put out. Sow peas and beans for late crops. Sow salading every ten days; also carrots and onions for drawing young. In the flower garden carnations, picotees, and pinks may now be propagated by pipings on the north side of a fence, or in pots half filled with sandy loam. Ranunculuses will require water frequently.

Perennials should be sown for next season's blooming so as to get strong plants. Remove all kinds of decaying crops. Search among strawberries every morning for slugs. Train and prune the summer shoots of all descriptions of wall and trellis trees. Net over cherry trees to protect the fruit from birds. Shrubberies should be frequently hoed and raked to keep them neat and to kill seedling weeds in their infancy. Pick the seed vessels off rhododendrons and azaleas. If plants are infested with worms, water them with lime water as the surest means of getting rid of them.

TAYMOUTH CASTLE.

Brahms Hated Interviewers.

BRAHMS, the famous musician, was not very patient of the interviewer. Once, as he was going out of his house in Vienna, a young man with a note-book and a pencil politely asked him, "Can you tell me, sir, whether Herr Brahms lives here?"

"Yes, he does," suavely answered the musician. "If you go up to the third floor you will find his room," and then he hurried along the street as fast as he could walk.

A Cheerful Memento.

THE hero of the following is an English private soldier; the scene, the West Indies; and the story neatly illustrates the red tape which binds the administrative departments of the army.

A poor fellow who was given over by the doctors, and supposed to be dead, was measured for his coffin, and the coffin was made. In those hot climates there is no time to be lost. The man, however, disappointed the doctors and recovered.

Then came the question, Who was to pay for the coffin? It was charged to the man, but he refused to sign his accounts with this charge against him, saying he had not ordered the coffin, and did not want it.

At last a compromise was arrived at. The man agreed to pay, provided he was allowed to have the coffin. So it was given him, and he stuck it up on end by his bed in his barrack-room, fitted it up with shelves, and kept his things in it all the time he was at Grenada.

EVIL SPEAKING.—Never say anything evil of anyone, unless you know it for a certainty; and if you do know it for a certainty, ask yourself—Why should I tell it?

This Queer Old World.

IT is queer how things go by contraries here; 'Tis always too cold or too hot; [appear And the prizes we miss, you know, always To be better than those that we've got; It is always too wet, or too dusty and dry, And the land is too rough or too flat; [sky, There's nothing that's perfect beneath the blue

—But

It's a pretty good world, for all that.

Some people are born but to dig in the soil, And sweat for the bread that they eat, [toil, While some never learn the hard meaning of And live on the things that are sweet; A few are too rich, and a lot are too poor, And some are too lean or too fat.

Ah, the hardships are many that men must endure,

—But

It's a pretty good world, for all that.

The man who must think envies them that must be

Ever pounding and digging for men; [if he And the man with the pick would be happy Might play with the brush or the pen!

All things go by contraries here upon earth, Life is empty and sterile and flat;

Man begins to complain on the day of his birth,

—But

It's a pretty good world, for all that.

There is no disputing about tastes.

THE DUKE OF ARGYLL.

BORN 30TH APRIL, 1823; DIED 24TH APRIL, 1900.

His Grace the late Duke of Argyll was the second son of the seventh Duke. He was the thirty-second Knight of Lochow, and the thirteenth Campbell in the direct line of descent. The new Duke—John Douglas Sutherland Campbell, Marquis of Lorn—was born on August 6th, 1845. He married the Princess Louise in 1871.

Inverary Castle.

THE chief seat of the Duke of Argyll, the home in which the late Duke breathed his last, is situated about a quarter of a mile from Inverary, the county town of Argyllshire, on the shores of Loch Fyne. The town originally stood on the north side of the bay, at the lower end of which it now is, and then clustered round the ancient baronial hold said to have been built by Colin the Singular, who flourished at the end of the fourteenth century, but it was removed to its present site in the middle of the eighteenth century.

Inverary Castle is a handsome square edifice built about the middle of the eighteenth century and restored in 1879 and 1880. It consists of two storeys and a sunk floor, with round, overtopping towers at the four corners. A fire at the Castle unfortunately destroyed many interesting relics in 1877.

The Entry into Pretoria.

IT was natural that General Botha should tell the women of Pretoria on Sunday, the 3rd of June, 1900, that "so long as we can still count on thousands of willing men, we must not dream of retreat," and that General Delarey should declare that "Pretoria will be defended to the utmost."

The "thousands of willing men," were, however, not forthcoming, and defence was hopeless. More than 25,000 British troops were ready to close in upon the Transvaal capital, where nothing was prepared, and counsels were divided. A decision was wisely come to not to defend the town, which was left by the military in charge of the civil authorities.

The official entry of Lord Roberts and his victorious army was fixed for the afternoon of the 5th. At 2 p.m. Lord Roberts rode into the square in front of the Raadzaal, and a few minutes later the Union Jack fluttered on the flag-staff above the Government buildings, the drums and fifes of the Grenadier Guards playing the National Anthem. Lord Roberts then rode forward and called for three cheers for the Queen, which were vociferously given, Lord Roberts also being cheered by the troops in turn. This was followed by a march-past lasting two hours, in which all the troops took part.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

No opportunity should be neglected to keep the whole surface of the garden as free from weeds as possible. If left alone, weeds soon become rampant, and very exhausting to the soil. When early crops are coming off in the kitchen garden, it is a sensible proceeding to clear the ground and dig it over at once. Sow peas for the last crop of the season in the first week of this month. Seed beds for winter spinach should now be made up and well manured, and the seed got in without delay. Earth up celery for winter use. Plant out the main crop of celery whenever the ground can be got ready. Hoe between all growing crops, and especially between potatoes. Gather and dry medicinal and pot herbs. Another lot of annuals may be sown early in the month to keep up the gaiety of the flower borders. Propagate herbaceous and other plants that have gone out of flower by means of cuttings and slips. Cuttings of gooseberry bushes may be struck in a moist shady border. Strawberry beds now require attention.

LORD ROBERTS TAKING PRETORIA.

A Wedding in Siam.

ON the morning of the day fixed for the marriage, relatives and friends from far and near who have received invitations, verbally given, assemble at the bride's house. Here a sumptuous breakfast is found ready for one and all. Country liquor, which is in abundance, is imbibed at intervals by groups of men who pass their time playing cards for small stakes.

At the appointed hour the bride and bridegroom, dressed in their best, kneel side by side, first before their parents, and then before all those who are looked on as elders, and simultaneously make three bows to each. The palms of the hands are placed together, and then before the forehead. In this position the couple bow their heads down to the floor, on which has previously been spread a cloth.

After this a selected guest gives them some good advice, and then they mingle with their friends.

As each guest enters, he drops into a brass tray, kept in some conspicuous part of the room, as much money as he can afford—a sort of dowry. Some give a rupee, some ten, some more, some less. Presents in kind are also permitted; thus a rich man may give a pair of buffaloes instead.

To go to the wedding feast and not to give something, however small, would be considered an unpardonable insult.

A Punster Without Knowing It.

THE best puns are unintentional. Thus, the well-known Californian tomato-grower, Mr. Perry, was walking about his garden in company with his brother from the city. "You raise an enormous lot of tomatoes, John," said the city dweller. "What in the world do you do with them?"

"Well," said Mr. Perry, "we eat as many as we can, and what we can't eat we can."

Reducing Expense.

PUBLIC men often find their bill for telegrams rather heavy. This was the case with the late Archbishop of Canterbury, but he hit upon a capital scheme for reducing expenses.

One day his chaplain was astonished to receive the following cryptogrammatic telegram: "John's Epistle III., 13, 14."

Completely mystified, he turned to the text indicated, and read as follows: "I had many things to write, but I will not with ink and pen write unto thee; but I trust I shall shortly see thee, and we shall speak face to face. Peace be to thee. Our friends salute thee. Greet the friends by name."

The Primate, instead of investing in a costly code-book, had adopted the simple plan of using the Bible for the purpose of condensing into five words a communication which contained forty-five!

At Cape Town.

The capital of Cape Colony is situated at the head of Table Bay and at the foot of Table Mountain. It was founded in 1652 by Van Riebeeck, who, with a small party of colonists, had been directed by the Dutch East India Company to form a settlement there. The town at first consisted of a few houses under the shelter of a fort at the mouth of the Zoeta, or "Sweet Stream," on the site of which the still existing castle was built. The chief streets of the increasing town were subsequently laid out at right angles, but the outer streets and suburbs extend irregularly upwards. The public buildings of Cape Town are numerous and handsome. The streets are well paved and well lighted. There is a good water supply. The population numbers about fifty thousand, of whom half are European. The rest include blacks and half-castes, descendants of the early Dutch settlers and their slaves. In the town there are also hundreds of Hindoos, Malays, and Chinese, and representatives of many other nationalities and races, specimens of whom may be seen any Saturday at the market parade shown in our engraving on the opposite page. Table Mountain, with its branches, the Devil's Peak and Lion's Head, is a conspicuous object, rising like a massive wall immediately at the back of Cape Town. Its top is often shrouded in mist.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

As a rule, more sunshine and aridity may be expected to prevail during this month and the preceding one than at any other similar period of the year; watering therefore is essential. By this time Scotch kale, Brussels sprouts, broccoli, savoy, etc., ought to be strong. Cabbages of most kinds may be sown in the second week of the month. Sow cauliflowers from the 7th to the 20th to keep over winter in frames. Sow winter and spring spinach in the beginning and about the end of the month; parsley and winter onions for a full crop in the first week; small salads occasionally. A few coleworts may still be planted. In the flower garden propagate plants for stock. Pansies may be sown, as may also most hardy annuals, to stand over winter, for early blossoming next spring. Continue to bud roses and fruit-trees, choosing damp, dull weather; they take best just after heavy rain. Throw nets over fruit-trees as a protection against birds. Gather fruit when the weather is dry, as upon this the chance of its keeping very much depends.

SATURDAY MARKET PARADE, CAPE TOWN.

Work is a Blessing.

YOU would enjoy life more if you had occasionally to get up early in the morning and work all day at a job that you hate. But that is one of the paradoxes of life, and you'll never get happiness out of work if you set on a straight road to look for it. Happiness comes at the end of work well done.

And the happiness does not come at first, perhaps not for a very long time. At first it is tolerably certain that one will hate the discipline of steady work, no matter of what kind. That is the natural and the fitting punishment for what a distinguished writer on education and heredity has called "the fundamental immorality of the idle."

But to idleness and to industry, more perhaps than to any other vice and virtue, does the old proverb apply: "He who finds pleasure in vice and pain in virtue is still a novice in both."

Vows of Silence.

A MISS CAROLINE BREWER in 1840 vowed she never would speak another word to any human being, because she had had a quarrel with her lover. For thirty-five years after she remained silent; she was never known to utter a word.

Some years ago three sisters lived together. Two of them quarrelled, vowed never to speak to each other again, and did not for over twenty years, when one of them died.

At What Age do People Marry?

THE most popular time for a woman to get married is from her twenty-first to her twenty-fifth year, inclusive. More than one-half of the women who marry at all marry in these five years of their life, and another quarter marry between the ages of twenty-five and thirty. With men, not quite one-half marry between the ages of twenty and twenty-five, and more than a third between the ages of twenty-five and thirty.

The average age of marrying is just over twenty-six for women, and just under twenty-eight for men. These figures include re-marriages. For spinsters only the average age is twenty-five, and for bachelors twenty-six and a half.

It is a noticeable fact that in the last ten years the average age of marrying has, for men and women alike, gone up half a year.

The Property Man and the Candle.

In the memoirs of Mr. Hollingshead we come on a good story of the production at Drury Lane of Fitzball's tragedy Nitocris :—

"The last scene was grand—up to a certain point. The waters of the Nile rose and engulfed the wicked monarch and his equally wicked courtiers, while they were carousing at a wicked banquet. All the rare wines and luscious fruits and golden goblets were destroyed by the avenging flood—all but one poor weak, solitary candle.

"The higher the water rose the brighter this candle burnt, in defiance of the laws of nature, like a good deed in a naughty world.

"Soon a dusky form was seen crawling under the water towards this light, and a sound of something like a muttered curse was heard in the theatre. It was a property man, enraged at his obstinate 'property,' moving crab-like to destroy it!"

Up With the Flag.

AFTER the surrender of Cronje's force at Paardeberg in the close of February, 1900, it was foreseen that the occupation by the British Army of the capital of the Free State was only a question of at most a few days. But though foreseen, the news that it had actually occurred sent a thrill of satisfaction through the Empire.

It happened on the 13th of March. Lord Roberts had made a demand for surrender within twenty-four hours, but, without replying, Mr. Steyn, the president, left secretly for Kroonstad, which he chose for his new seat of government. After his departure several of the Government officials met Lord Roberts about two miles from the town and presented him with the keys of the public offices.

Lord Roberts, heading a cavalcade a mile in length, entered the city at one o'clock, meeting with an enthusiastic reception throughout the route—the enthusiasm being in many cases no doubt sincere, but in others, it afterwards proved, affected.

Going to the Government Buildings, Lord Roberts took possession of Bloemfontein in the name of the Queen. He then entered the grounds of the Presidency amid great cheering and singing of "God Save the Queen." A Union Jack was hoisted in the grounds at half-past one.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

A FEW small salads for late crops may be sown. Gather seeds as fast as they ripen. Take up potatoes as the tops wither; carrots and beetroots may remain until the frost cuts off the foliage and no longer. This is the best season for forming new beds of horseradish. Plant endive and lettuce. If broccoli be too strong or tall to withstand the winter, lift them and lay them nearly up to the neck in the earth. Lift onions, and place them on a dry border or gravel walk. Remove decayed flower-stems, and keep the borders clear of weeds. Plant out pinks and carnations and roots and cuttings of herbaceous plants. This month commences the season for planting bulbs, but tulips should not be put in the open ground till October. In the beginning of the month sow all half-hardy annuals if not done last month. Plant evergreens. Have all fruit gathered with care and stored without bruising. Finish the summer pruning and training of all fruit trees. Plant strawberries for a main crop. Climbers will require training and tying, and the hardy fernery weeding. Keep walks as neat as possible, and allow no disorderly growths for want of early tying.

HOISTING THE BRITISH FLAG AT BLOEMFONTEIN.

A Strange Marriage Custom.

ONE of the strangest and most uncomfortable of marriage customs prevails in certain districts of Russia. Believing that the happiness of the young couple is not assured unless their parents are soaked with water from head to foot, the wedding guests duck the old people in the nearest river, or roll them in the snow—a pious custom which results sometimes in the death of those who receive such attentions.

The Bailie on the Bench.

WHEN Glasgow was a much smaller place than it is now, there was a bailie recently advanced to the bench, and he had a criminal placed before him, accused of some very modest violation of the law.

Of course, the Bailie knew the sinner well. He heard the charge stated. "John, man, I'm sorry to see you here. We'll just fine you half a crown."

The Public Prosecutor here intervened. "But, my lord (even so), the charge is not yet proved; we have not heard the evidence."

Then the benignant judge: "Ah well, John, my man, as the charge is not proved, we'll just fine you eighteenpence."

It was the same delightful old gentleman, gone to his rest, who had to attend the judges on the circuit, and was deeply touched by the solemn words in which one of the lords summed up a sentence of death.

Here was a valuable hint. So in a day or two the Bailie sat on the judgment seat, and a poor fellow was haled before him. In a solemn voice the words came:

"The sentence of the Court is that you pay one shilling to the Crown for getting drunk; and the Lord have mercy on your soul!"

At an Examination.

A GIRL of twenty-one, in training for the post of assistant teacher, was recently asked to name the chief English writers of the reign of Queen Anne, and to give a short account of the life and work of one of them.

This was her answer: "The reign of Queen Anne has been called the Augustan Age. The chief writers of this period were—Shakespeare, Chaucer, Dryden, Ben Jonson, Goldsmith, and Sir Walter Scott." An Augustan Age, indeed!

An Enormous Pie.

IN the days of Old England, pies were sometimes made of enormous dimensions, and boasted of a variety of ingredients that takes our breath away. Here is a recipe given as late as 1770:—

"Two bushels of flour, twenty pounds of butter, four geese, two turkeys, two rabbits, four wild ducks, two woodcocks, six snipe, four partridges, two neat's tongues, two curlews, seven blackbirds, and six pigeons." When made, the pie containing these ingredients measured nine feet in circumference, weighed twelve stone, was fitted into a case upon wheels, and required two men to lift it on to the table.

She Was a Common-sense Nurse.

DURING the Civil War in the United States the national superintendent of nurses was Miss D. L. Dix, whose common-sense we may judge of from one of her circulars, which reads thus:

"No woman under thirty years need apply to serve in Government hospitals. All nurses are required to be very plain-looking women. Their dresses must be brown or black, with no bows, no curls or jewellery, and no hoopskirts."

Bloemfontein.

THE engraving on the opposite page represents the capital of what was till recently the Orange Free State, and is now the Orange River Colony. It is situated on the railway line between Cape Town and Pretoria—750 miles from the former, and 290 from the latter—has a population of about 7,000 whites and 3,000 blacks, and is said to be one of the cleanest towns in South Africa. It has a handsome range of public offices.

Carmen Sylva.

ON a preceding page we give an interesting portrait of the Queen of Roumania, who occupies a high place amongst royal authors. In literary circles her Majesty is known under the nom de plume of Carmen Sylva. Previous to her marriage she was the Princess Pauline Elizabeth Ottilie Louise of Weid. She was the daughter of the late Prince Hermann of Weid and the Princess Maria of Nassau, and was born on the 29th of December, 1843. In 1869 she married Prince Charles of Roumania, who in 1881 became King, on Roumania being declared a kingdom. The queen has been a persevering and successful author, and has written many poems and stories. Amongst her publications may be mentioned "The Thoughts of a Queen," 1890, "Edleen Vaughan," 1892, and "Shadows on Life's Dial," 1895.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THIS is a busy month; nearly every sort of winter work may be commenced, and, indeed, completed if the weather permits. Make a general clearance in the kitchen garden of the ground wherever there are vacant spaces, and ridge up all plots not to be planted on during the winter. Sow small salads and radishes in the first week; mazagan beans and early frame peas in the last week. Plant cabbages in beds or close rows till wanted in spring. This is the best time for making plantations of rhubarb for producing next spring. Let the ground be deeply dug and well manured. Chrysanthemums should be securely staked, for heavy rains and winds play sad havoc with them when they are not well supported. Go on with the storing of fruit. Preparations must be set about at once this month where the planting of trees and shrubs is contemplated; it is necessary that the sites for them should be well drained and trenched at least two feet deep, and this should be finished and everything had in readiness at the latest by the third week in the month.

VIEW OF BLOEMFONTEIN.

“Just What They Think.”

THE young man recalls diverse damsels who have refused him since last Christmas; then whispers tenderly, “May, I am utterly unworthy of you.” And there is the sob of a lost soul in his voice. “That’s precisely what papa and mamma think, George,” she replies. And for a long time thereafter he is silent.

A Woman Soldier.

DURING the stormy times of the French Revolution General Custine had his attention drawn to the fact that a woman was serving bravely and honestly as a soldier in his army, and had been wounded while fighting in the artillery. Being dismissed as a woman, her grief and despondency were such as to induce her readmission, and she became aide-major to the staff.

What London Drinks.

It appears that about 177,000,000 gallons of (British) beer are drunk in London yearly, and 485,000 gallons daily. Taking 485,000 gallons as 78,020 cubic feet, a barrel 76 feet long by 36 feet in mean diameter, measured internally between the bung and the head, will hold this quantity.

The quantity of wine consumed in a day is about 5,500 gallons, or 44,000 pints, which could be stored in a wine vault 52 feet square and one foot deep.

Of spirits, home and foreign, about 16,000 gallons are drunk daily by Londoners.

The tea consumed yearly in the metropolis amounts to 33,000,000 lb., or about 90,000 lb. daily, against 112,000 lb. daily of coffee beans, and 8,800 lb. of cocoa.

Rules of Health.

FIX in mind the grand truth that life power rules the body, and that it alone can cure disease. Life power lives upon air, water, and food only.

Make cleanliness your motto, and watch against filth in both house and all around it.

Few starve for want of food, but many for want of air; so breathe good air deeply. Wear no tight clothing. Above all, ventilate your sleeping-room.

Beware of gluttony. If the appetite is dull, eat fruit only, or eat nothing. Use no fiery condiments, but live chiefly on natural grains, vegetables, and fruits. Never ask your stomach to chew your food, use your teeth.

The Book of Hours.

*As one who reads a tale writ in a tongue
He only partly knows, runs over it
And follows but the story, losing wit
And charm, and half the subtle links among
The hops and harms that the book's folk beset,
So do we with our life. Night comes, and morn;
I know that one has died and one is born;
That this by love and that by hate is met.
But all the grace and glory of it fail
To touch me, and the meanings they enfold.
The Spirit of the World hath told the tale,
And tells it, and 'tis very wise and old.
But o'er the page there is a mist and veil—
I do not know the tongue in which 'tis told.*

An Attempt at Assassination.

AN incident which created a considerable sensation happened on the 4th of April, 1900. This was an attempt made at Brussels to assassinate the Prince of Wales. The Prince and Princess were on their way to Copenhagen. When their train was standing in Brussels railway station a young man approached the saloon, jumped on the footboard, and fired into the carriage in the direction of the Prince. He had fired two shots, and was aiming the third, when a station official, rushing to the spot, knocked the revolver from his hand and arrested him. His Royal Highness suffered no injury. No one in the saloon was hurt. The train at once proceeded. The would-be assassin was a youth of sixteen, Jean Baptiste Sipido, residing in a suburb of Brussels. His pockets were crammed with Anarchist literature. He declared to the legal authorities who examined him that his intention was to kill the Prince, who had caused so many thousands of his fellowmen to be killed in South Africa.

Curiously enough, this foolish act took place on the very day when Her Majesty the Queen was entering the Irish capital and being received there with a hearty and generous welcome, in which there was not a single discordant voice.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

MUCH of the work of the month is connected with the cultivation and amelioration of the soil. Whenever digging and trenching are required let it be done without delay; every additional day's exposure of the soil to the action of the weather is a benefit to it. The general work of the kitchen garden is but a continuation of that of last month. Broad, well-drained slopes are of great value for winter sowings and for bedding out lettuce, broccoli, and cauliflower for the winter. In the flower-garden whatever is of too tender a nature to bear exposure to frost should be got under cover without delay. Bulbs should be planted as soon as possible both in beds and borders. Gather any seeds that remain out, and dry indoors. Plant deciduous trees and shrubs as long as the weather continues favourable, and before the soil has parted with the solar heat absorbed during the summer. Prune and plant in the fruit garden as the weather permits. Give special care to wall fruit. Red and white currants must be cut back to skeletons. The pruning of fruit-trees and bushes is sadly neglected in most cottage gardens.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF THE PRINCE OF WALES.

The Wedding Day.

A NEWSPAPER reporter in Texas went recently to a wedding, and this is how he began his account of the ceremony in the local journal:—

“Thursday was a most beautiful day. Not a cloud flecked the blue sky, and the sun placed a mantle of gold on the earth. It was a winter day by the cycles of the earth; it was a summer day by the temper of the air, the pulsation of hearts, and the smile of radiant faces. While unseen angels sang the marriage anthem, visible forms whispered o’er and o’er the old, old song of love that the heart fosters through the valleys overgrown with shadowy trees.”

Work and Character.

A FOOLISH person builds foolishly, and a wise one sensibly, a virtuous one beautifully, and a vicious one badly. If stonework is well put together, it means that a thoughtful man cut it, and an honest man cemented it. If it has too much ornament, it means that its carver was too greedy of pleasure; if too little, that he was rude, or insensitive, or stup’id, or the like.

A man may hide himself from you, or misrepresent himself to you every other way; but he cannot in his work. There be sure you have him to the inmost, all that he likes, all that he sees, all that he can do, his imagination, his affection, his perseverance, his impatience, his clumsiness, cleverness, everything is there.

If the work is a cobweb, you know it was made by a spider; if a honeycomb, by a bee; a worm cast is thrown up by a worm, and a nest wreathed by a bird; and a house is built by a man, worthily if he is worthy, and ignobly if he is ignoble. And always from the least to the greatest, as a thing made is good or bad, so is the maker of it.—RUSKIN.

The Heat of the Sun.

ACCORDING to Sir Robert Ball, if the total heat of the sun were valued at £5,000,000, the proportion of its genial warmth utilised by the earth would be worth about 1d. The balance of the sun’s heat is wasted in space, so far as science knows.

If all the coal in the earth were to be used for sun fuel, the heat produced would be only equal to that shed in the tenth part of a second by the sun.

Life is Like a Dream.

“Don’t wish for the time to fly so fast,” says dad. “Why, it ain’t a day
Sence your mother an’ me wuz sweethearts under the blossoms of May—Sence we stood out thar by the garden gate, as happy as hearts could be!
An’ I fooled her—jest like we fool ’em all—into keepin’ the house fer me!”

“Don’t wish fer the time to fly so fast,” says dad. “It wuz yesterday
That age, with the wrinkles an’ frosty locks,
’peared to be fur away.
Thur wuz birds in the mornin’ singin’, an’ blue and bright wuz the sky:
But the evenin’ bells wuz ringin’ fore the bird songs ’peared to die!”

“Don’t wish fer the time to fly so fast—it’s fast enough, God knows!
Like a drop of dew on the daisy, it shines in the light and goes,
Life’s like a dream that passes away with the evenin’ light;
We only say ‘Good-mornin,’ fore it’s time to say ‘Good-night!’”

The End of the Khalifa.

ON the 24th of November, 1899, the last forces of Mahdism were shattered, the Khalifa was slain, all his principal Emirs, with the exception of Osman Digna, were killed or captured, his camp was taken, and thousands of his followers were made prisoners. Such was the feat of arms achieved by the Egyptian force under Sir Francis Wingate.

A reconnoitring party of Arab horsemen had succeeded in locating the Khalifa's whereabouts, and by a forced moonlight march through thick bush, Colonel Wingate succeeded in reaching a position overlooking the Dervish camp.

Once more, and we may hope now for the last time, the well-known war drums and horns were heard sounding the challenge to battle. Once more the Dervishes advanced to the attack, but, without apparently giving them time to develop their charge, the Egyptian troops swept down upon them.

True to their warlike traditions, the Khalifa and his Emirs made one last gallant stand. Seeing it was impossible to get away, he told his Emirs to stay with him and die. He then spread a sheepskin on the ground, and sat down upon it, the Emirs being grouped on his right and left hand.

Shortly afterwards he was killed, being shot through the head, heart, arm, and legs.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

THE state of the weather often now interferes with outdoor operations; all work which can be advanced within-door should therefore be attended to. Make a plantation of sea-kale, rhubarb, asparagus, and horseradish. Roots of dandelion, packed together in leaf-mould and put into gentle heat, will furnish a delicate salad in five or six weeks. This is a good time to make drains, improve watercourses, and plant hedges. Sow early peas and beans on dry warm slopes. Take up tea-roses that are in exposed situations and lay them in a shed out of the reach of frost. Cut down fuchsias that are to remain out all winter and cover their roots with litter or coal ashes. Choice things in open beds should have a little light litter sprinkled over them in frosty weather. Dig round old fruit trees. Root-prune any trees that grow too luxuriantly to bear well. Plant all sorts of fruit trees. Mulch over the roots of tender trees, such as apricot and peach, and take every precaution to protect them from the weather.

DEFEAT AND DEATH OF THE KHALIFA.

A Philosophic Inventor.

¶ TWO things are unknown to Edison—worry and discouragement. His most intimate friends contend that these happy characteristics are due to the fact that he possesses no nerves.

Quite recently his secretary was compelled to report to him, in rapid succession, the absolute failure of three experiments, involving not only the loss of a pet invention, but also an enormous sum of money. Worn out with the strain upon his nerves, the young man was at a loss to account for the matter-of-fact way in which his chief accepted his report, and, in an irritable tone, asked :

"How does it come that you take it so lightly, Mr. Edison? I should think you would be greatly worried over the loss."

"Why should I?" was the inventor's reply. "You're worrying enough for both of us."

A Cat's Tale.

A GENTLEMAN, late one night, went to visit a friend living on the outskirts of a forest in East Germany. He lost his path, and, after wandering aimlessly for some time, beheld at last a light streaming from the windows of an old and ruined abbey.

Looking in, he saw a procession of cats lowering into a grave a small coffin with a crown upon it.

The sight filled him with horror, and, spurring his horse, he rode away as fast as he could, never stopping until he reached his destination, long after midnight.

His friend was still awaiting him, and at once he recounted what had happened; whereupon a cat that lay sleeping by the fire sprang to its feet, cried out, "Then I am the king of the cats!" and disappeared like a flash up the chimney.

Time for a Change.

¶ A PARTY of Cambridge professors recently undertook, for a scientific object, to penetrate into the depths of a Cornish mine. One of the number relates the following startling incident of his visit.

On his ascent, in the ordinary manner, by means of a bucket, and with a miner for a fellow passenger, he perceived, as he thought, unmistakable symptoms of frailty in the rope.

"How often do you change your ropes, my good man?" he inquired, when about half way from the bottom of the awful abyss.

"We change them every three months, sir," replied the man in the bucket; "and we shall change this one to-morrow if we get up safe."

Dancing Against Time.

A LITTLE over twenty years ago walking matches were superseded in the United States by dances against time, and whilst this craze was in fashion an agile professor in New York waltzed for seven hours without stopping, exhausting a large number of partners, none of whom were able to keep up longer than forty-five minutes at a time.

The dancer took refreshments occasionally, but continued dancing while he drank, and during the first five hours swallowed two glasses of cold tea, two of champagne, and four of lager beer, as well as unlimited ices.

The Picture-hat.

"I'll wear my picture-hat," said Grace.
I answered: "What of that,
Any old hat above thy face
Would be a picture-hat."

Post Office Telegrams.

The charge for telegrams throughout the United Kingdom is 6d. for the first twelve words, and ¼d. for every additional word. Addresses are charged for. Figures are counted at the rate of five figures to a word.

For the rates charged for foreign telegrams, see the Post Office Guide.

Letter Post.

To and from all parts of the United Kingdom, the prepaid rates are:—
Not exceeding 4 oz. in weight, 1d.
For every additional 2 oz., ¼d.

No letter may exceed 2 feet in length, 1 foot in width, or 1 foot in depth, unless it be sent to or from a Government office.

A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage, and a letter posted insufficiently paid is chargeable with double the deficiency. Foreign and Colonial Postage Rate is 2½d. per ½ oz.

Imperial Penny Postage.

A letter postage of 1d. per ½ oz. is now established between the United Kingdom, Canada, Newfoundland, India, Natal, and other British Possessions and Protectorates.

Inland Book Post.

The Book Post is now limited to packets not exceeding 2 oz. in weight. For this weight the charge is ½d.

Every Book Packet must be posted either without a cover or in an unfastened envelope, or in an easily removable cover. No Book Packet may exceed 2 feet in length or 1 foot in breadth or depth.

Beyond the weight of 2 oz. there is now no distinction between letters, samples, and books. All go at the rate of 1d. for not exceeding 4 oz., and ¼d. for every additional 2 oz.

Parcel Post.

Packages not exceeding 11 lb. in weight are received at any post office for transmission between places in the United Kingdom. The rates of postage are:—Not exceeding 1 lb., 3d.; 2 lb., 4d.; 3 lb., 5d.; 4 lb., 6d.; 5 lb., 7d.; 6 lb., 8d.; 7 lb., 9d.; 8 lb., 10d.; 9 lb., 11d.; 10 lb., 12d.

The dimensions allowed for an inland postal parcel are:—

Greatest length 3ft. 6in.
Greatest length and girth combined 6ft. 0in.

A Parcel Post has also been established between this country and the British Colonies and the British Colonies and possessions generally. For rates and regulations, see the Post Office Guide.

Postage on Inland Registered Newspapers.

Prepaid Rate.—On each Registered Newspaper, whether posted singly or in a packet, the postage when prepaid is one halfpenny; but a packet containing two or more Registered Newspapers is not chargeable with a higher rate of postage than would be chargeable on a Book Packet or Letter of the same weight—viz. one halfpenny for 2 oz. or fraction of 2 oz.

Foreign and Colonial Sample Post.

This post is absolutely restricted to bond fide trade samples and scientific specimens. The rate of postage is 3d. per 2 oz., except that the lowest charge is 1d., for which sum, however, a weight of 4 oz. may be sent.

Post and Letter Cards.

Post Cards, bearing a halfpenny impressed stamp, are available for transmission between places in the United Kingdom only. They are sold at 10 for 5½d., or of finer quality, 10 for 6d. They can also be had in smaller numbers or singly. Reply Cards are also sold.

Letter Cards are sold at 8 for 9d. Smaller numbers in proportion.

Money Orders for the United Kingdom.

Money Orders are granted in the United Kingdom at the following rates:—

For sums not exceeding £1 .. 2d.
Above £1, and not excog. £3 3s. 6d.
" £3 .. £10 4d.
Money may be sent by Telegraph Money Order at the following rates:—
For sums not exceeding £3 .. 4d.
Above £3, and not excog. £10 6d.
In addition to the commission a charge is made at the ordinary inland rate for the official telegram authorising payment; minimum, 6d.

Money Orders payable Abroad.

Money Orders, payable abroad, are issued in the United Kingdom at the following rates:—

If payable in France, Switzerland, Belgium, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, Italy, &c. &c.—
On sums not exceeding £2, 6d.; £2 to £6, 1s.; £6 to £10, 1s. 6d.

Postal Orders.

Postal Orders are issued at the following rates: on those for 1/- and 1/6 the charge is ¼d.; for 2/-, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6, 4/-, 4/6, 5/-, 7/6, 10/-, 10/6, the charge is 1d.; for 15/- and 20/-, 1½d. Broken amounts may be made up by affixing stamps to the face of the Order.

Registration and Compensation.

By the prepayment of a fee of twopence any postal packet (parcels included) may be registered in any place in the United Kingdom. Every packet to be registered must be given to an agent of the Post Office, and a receipt obtained for it. The Postmaster-General will give compensation up to a maximum limit of £120 for the loss and damage of Inland Registered Postal Packets of all kinds. The ordinary fee of 2d. secures £5; the payment of 3d. £10; 4d. £20; 5d. £30; 6d. £40; 7d. £50; 8d. £60; 9d. £70; 10d. £80; 11d. £90; 12d. £100; 15d. £110; 15s. 2d. £120.

Post Office Savings Banks.

No deposit of less than a shilling is received, nor any pence, and not more than £50 in one year. No further deposit is allowed when the amount standing in depositor's name amounts to £200 inclusive of interest. Interest is allowed at the rate of 2½ per cent. (or sixpence in the pound) per annum—that is, at the rate of one halfpenny per pound per month.

At every Post Office in the United Kingdom forms for making small deposits are issued gratuitously. Each form has twelve divisions, in each of which a penny postage stamp can be placed; when the twelve are filled in, it is received at any Post Office Savings Bank as a shilling.

Any person can invest, at any Post Office Savings Bank, small sums in Government Stock. Not more than £200 can be invested in any one year. The amount held by the investor must not exceed £500.

REGISTERS OF BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS.

Copies of these are kept at Somerset House, and may be searched on payment of a fee of one shilling. If a certified copy of any entry be required, the charge for that, in addition to the shilling for the search, is two shillings and sevenpence, which includes a penny for stamp duty. The registers contain an entry of births, deaths, and marriages since 1st July, 1837. Copies can always be obtained from the Registrar for the district, or the Superintendent Registrar who has the custody of the registers (including those of persons married at the churches) when filled.

MARRIAGES.

In the case of marriage by banns, if the contracting parties reside in different parishes, the publication must be made in the churches of each parish for three consecutive Sundays. If three months be permitted to elapse after the third time of publication, the banns become useless, and the parties must either obtain a licence or submit to the republication of the banns. Civil marriages can be performed before a duly licensed Registrar. Particulars of such can be obtained at all Registry Offices.

The Royal Observatory, Greenwich :

A Glance at its History and Work. By E. WALTER MAUNDER, F.R.A.S., Assistant at the Observatory. With many Illustrations from Original Photographs. Large crown 8vo, cloth gilt, gilt edges, 5s.

A full account of the history and working of the most famous observatory in the world. Mr. Maunder tells, from first-hand information, the strange life-story of the eight Astronomers Royal, and then in detail describes the important work done in connection with navigation, the fixing of time, and the various highly developed scientific departments connected with the constant study of the heavens there carried on by day and night.

PIONEERING ON THE CONGO.

BY THE

Rev. W. HOLMAN BENTLEY,

Chevalier de l'Ordre Royal du Lion; author of "The Dictionary and Grammar of the Kongo Language," "Life on the Congo"; Translator of the New Testament into Kongo, etc.

"Mr. Bentley's book is so brightly written, and is so crammed with interesting information, that, apart altogether from the missionary element, it should be one of the most popular books of the season. To those, however, who follow the progress of missions with sympathy, 'Pioneering on the Congo' will be simply fascinating. It is one of the best illustrated missionary books we have seen."—Christian World.

From Aldershot to Pretoria :

A Story of Christian Work among our Troops in South Africa.

By Rev. W. E. SELLERS. With an Introduction by Rev. R. W. ALLEN.

With fifteen Illustrations. Large crown 8vo, cloth gilt. 2s. 6d.

This book contains many records of heroism, of suffering and sickness patiently borne, and of faithfulness to Jesus Christ under great stress and trial. The story of what has been attempted in various forms of religious activity, and relief of the wounded and sick in connection with our arms in South Africa, arouses the admiration of all Christian people.

With our Soldiers at the Front ;

THE LIFE AND TIMES OF JESUS THE MESSIAH.

By ALFRED EDERSHEIM, M.A., Oxon, D.D., Ph.D.

LATE GRINFIELD LECTURER ON THE SEPTUAGINT, OXFORD,

This work was originally issued in 1883, the price being TWO GUINEAS.

The present Cheap Issue makes the Tenth Impression, and is a verbatim reprint of the book in its more expensive form.

"In this long and elaborate book Dr. Edersheim has produced an important contribution to a subject of vast and perennial interest. . . . Looked at from the standpoint of the English public, Dr. Edersheim's account of the life of Christ is likely to obtain a marked success. The Jewish antecedents of the writer and his acquaintance with Rabbinical learning have enabled him to bring to bear upon his subject a mass of information of which the ordinary cultivated English reader has little or no knowledge."—The Times.

"Dr. Edersheim was a Hebrew Christian, who believed that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and all his Hebrew learning—which was great—was used strictly for the setting forth of that great theme. He has given us a book for which we are very thankful. He has thrown light on many obscure points in the Gospel history."—The Spectator.

BY THE SAME AUTHOR.

THE TEMPLE:

Its Ministry and Services as they were at the time of Jesus Christ. By the Rev. Dr. EDERSHEIM. Imperial 16mo. 5s. cloth, gilt edges.

"The author knows the varied topics he discusses better than most scholars in England. There are few who will not learn from a volume which has the results, with little of the show, of learning."—Athenæum.

SKETCHES OF JEWISH SOCIAL LIFE in the Days of Christ. By the Rev. Dr. EDERSHEIM. Impl. 16mo. 5s. cloth gilt.

DR. EDERSHEIM'S BIBLE HISTORY

From the Creation to the Captivity. IN FOUR VOLUMES. A very acceptable present for a Sunday School Teacher or School Officer. Price 16s. the set.

"Dr. Edersheim has succeeded in throwing a freshness of meaning over these histories."—Irish Ecclesiastical Gazette.

SOLD BY THE RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY, INCORPORATED,
56 Paternoster Row, London.

NEW STORIES.

BETWEEN TWO OPINIONS.

By MARY E. PALGRAVE, author of "Driftwood," "How Dick Found his Sea Legs," etc. Illustrated. Crown 8vo. cloth gilt, 2s.

A well-told story for girls, showing the need for quick decision in breaking off an unequal yoking with unbelievers.

A WILFUL WARD.

By RUTH LAMB, author of "Only a Girl-Wife," "Her Own Choice," "In the Twilight Side by Side." Illustrated. Crown 8vo. cloth gilt. 2s. 6d.

In this case the title carries its own moral. The troubles into which the heroine falls, by yielding to a very common temptation, are well depicted by an author already known to a wide circle of readers.

CLIPPED WINGS.

By HARRIET E. COLVILLE. Illustrated. Crown 8vo. 2s. cloth boards.
"A readable little story, and especially suitable to girls likely to be led away with sceptical ideas. A pretty love story is interwoven as an under plot."—Christian.

THREE LITTLE GREAT LADIES.

Illustrated. Crown 8vo. cloth gilt, 1s.
A charming little story of three young girls who suddenly become rich, and who yet early learn that the true pathway to happiness is by self-denial and not by self-indulgence.

Reduced Illustration from
"Between Two Opinions."

ENID DUNCAN; or, The Discipline of a Year.

By EDITH E. RHODES. Illustrated. Crown 8vo. cloth gilt, 1s.

This story is intended to show some of the evils of Sacerdotalism which bear very hardly upon the children who come under their influence.
